CIVIC-MILITARY-POLICE CAMP FOR YOUNG CADETS 21ST CENTURY

PRESENTATION; WHO WE ARE

Presentation of the Civic-Military-Police Camp "Steel Cadets" 21st Century

Contents:

- Expert Team: Led and taught by active members of the Security Forces and Corps, professional military personnel, and qualified instructors ensuring a 100% legal and safe framework.
- Comprehensive Training: Combines military values, education for coexistence, practical notions of rights recognized in our Constitution, and civic-legal rules for life in society.
- Leisure and Adventure: Dynamic activities including marches, airsoft, paintball, sports, hikes, military-themed games, and pool time with water sports.

Direction and Leadership

The camp has constant supervision and is led by professionals with extensive experience:

- Director: A Local Police officer with over 37 years of active service, directing, coordinating, and supervising the overall security of the camp.
- Chief Instructor: Coordinates all training, recreational, military, and police activities. A professional from the Armed Forces or Security Forces.
- Instructor Team: Composed of highly qualified active personnel including an active military commander from UME, a former BOEL legionnaire (reserve), and an Air Force commander.

- Two National Police officers, two Civil Guards, two Local Police officers, and one Police Self-Defense instructor from IPA. A nurse for support and medical care for the cadets.

Safety and Educational Philosophy

- Emergency Plan: Safety protocols adapted to the size of the site and variety of activities scheduled.
- Adapted Effort: Without excessive risks or extreme operational demands, aiming to promote camaraderie and teamwork.
- Personal Autonomy: Practice of internal regime tasks (order, basic cleaning, sewing, surveillance, and mutual care) to inculcate responsibility and companionship.

Legal Commitment

The "Young Cadets of the 21st Century" Camp operates under the umbrella and collaboration with IPSE (Professional Institute of Security and Emergencies), fully established and strictly compliant with current regulations:

- Legal taxation, compliance with specific sector regulations, and application of labor agreements.
- Up-to-date liability insurance policies (for participants, third parties, and employer) and accident insurance.
- Compliance with the Organic Law on Personal Data Protection (LOPD).

CAMP OBJECTIVES

The following outlines the various general and specific objectives pursued by this Camp, as well as a reference to its terminal objectives.

1.- OBJECTIVES:

This camp is designed to achieve different objectives with the young cadets. These are: three General Objectives, six Specific Objectives, as well as various Operational Terminal Objectives, which are as many as the theoretical and practical activities taught to the cadets.

1st General Objective: To acquire the basic knowledge and skills to be able to function independently outside the comfort zone of their families and familiar environment.

2nd General Objective: To internalize the elementary values and rules of teamwork and coexistence, away from their homes in a natural environment, balancing work and fun

. 3rd General Objective: To learn about the work and duties performed by the Armed Forces and the State Security Forces and Corps of our country, namely the Civil Guard (Guardia Civil), the National Police Corps (and its units attached to the Autonomous Communities), Municipal Local Police forces, Autonomous Community Police forces, and other bodies with police surveillance duties such as Port Police, Customs Surveillance Service, Mobility Agents, Forestry Agents, etc.

1st Specific Objective: To reinforce their personal values, such as self-respect and constructive self-criticism, for personal and professional growth in the present and for the future.

2nd Specific Objective: To value and internalize the utmost respect and good manners toward their families, friends, immediate environment, as well as the elderly and the rest of the people who make up our society.

3rd Specific Objective: To learn the values that guide our Armed Forces in carrying out all the tasks entrusted to them by our Spanish Constitution of 1978 and the rest of the current legal system.

4th Specific Objective: To learn about the work and self-sacrifice of the members who make up the Civil Guard Corps, an armed institute of a military nature, which has a primarily policing role and carries out its duties in small towns, rural areas, highways, and the territorial waters of Spain.

5th Specific Objective: To acquire basic knowledge about the duties and tasks of the members who make up the National Police Corps, an armed institute of a civil nature, which is deployed in medium and large cities across our country.

6th Specific Objective: To learn the responsibilities and tasks carried out by all Local Police Corps in almost every municipality of our nation, as armed institutes of a civil nature, reporting to their respective City Councils.

Terminal Objectives: There will be as many of these as theoretical and practical activities we teach them during their stay at the '21st Century Young Cadets' camp. Among many others: drill and close-order drill, combat tactics, orienteering, topography, physical training, land and water sports, etc.

HOW TO REGISTER PRICE: 775 euros per week Special discount for members of the International Police Association (IPA): 50 euros (verified with a 2027 membership card or a certificate of membership issued by the Board of Directors). Two or more siblings: 50-euro discount on the final price. Discount for early and full payment of the service: If registration is formalized before January 31, 2027, and the full camp fee is paid, you will receive a 50-euro discount.

Note: Only one discount may be applied (the most advantageous one of your choice); they are NOT CUMULATIVE.

PLACE RESERVATION: You must fill out the registration form and pay a deposit of 175 euros. Deposit payment via the payment gateway when registering on the website. Form: via the registration form on the website under the 'Registration' section.

At the time of registration and paying the deposit, you may pay a higher amount or the full fee as desired. The place reservation is only formalized with both requirements: receipt of the registration form and proof of payment of the deposit (175 euros).

If either of the two requirements is missing, the place reservation for the camp will not be formalized. Once the form and the deposit payment are received, a confirmation email for your place reservation will be sent to you.

Completing the registration form and making the deposit payment implies full acceptance of the terms and conditions set out in this section.

CONDITIONS AND CANCELLATIONS (ASSUMPTIONS)

In the event of non-attendance at the camp or failure to pay the remaining balance of the service (600 euros), the deposit (175 euros) will only be refunded for justified reasons (illness, accident, medical treatment, funeral of an immediate family member, etc.) and always with proper documentation. Any other reason cited will be evaluated by the camp management.
Please keep in mind that the hostel requires advance payments (deposits) from us based on the number of registered participants as the camp start date approaches.

REGISTRATION PROCEDURE

Once the place reservation has been formalized, if the remaining balance of the total service fee (600 euros) is not paid before the start of the camp, you will lose your right to the spot (the Hostel requires us to pay the full amount before check-in).

Step 1: Read all sections of the website carefully. An attached document provides all the information in a single file (in several languages: French, English, German, Italian, and Chinese). You can also browse the website in these five languages.

Step 2: Complete the registration form at the corresponding link below and pay the reservation deposit via the payment gateway.

Step 3: Up until June 10, 2027, you must pay the remaining balance due (600 euros) to complete the total camp fee, via bank transfer to the following account number: ES55 2100 1692 4202 0083 7177. Very important: you must state the attending cadet's name in the payment reference.
Note: If you register for the camp on or after June 10, 2027, you must pay the full amount of the service (775 euros) via the payment gateway on the website.

Note 1: In case of any doubts or inquiries, please call 686.62.89.14 or 682.32.82.68, or send an email to info@cadetessigloxxi, and we will gladly assist you.

THE FULL SERVICE INCLUDED IN THE PRICE CONSISTS OF:

1. Accommodation and full-board catering (with 5 meals: in addition to the three main meals, it includes a mid-morning snack and an afternoon snack).

2. Civil liability insurance, medical assistance for accidents and hospitalization, etc.

3. Care, Supervision, Monitoring, and Training in the activities outlined in the Work Plan, provided by top-level professionals throughout all the days the cadet is at the camp.

4. Uniform, which the cadet may take home and does not need to return. The uniform includes:

- Workwear:
  - 2 pairs of digital desert camouflage trousers
  - 1 inner tactical belt
  - 3 short-sleeved camp T-shirts
  - 1 cadet cap with the camp emblem
  - 1 digital desert camouflage field jacket (tunic)
  - 1 outer canvas web belt

Note: The style and shade of the uniform may vary depending on supplier availability.

5. Recognitions and/or merits: Where applicable, those cadets who, through their behavior, hard work, attitude, and progress, stand out above the camp average may be rewarded with a badge/insignia. This type of recognition is NOT provided or awarded to ALL attending cadets, only to those who excel on their own merits.

WORK PLAN AND ACTIVITIES
METHODOLOGY AND ACTIVITIES

Below is a brief, schematic description of the activities carried out at the camp.
All activities are taught in a general and uniform manner to all cadets, to prevent some from receiving certain training while others do not. The instructors most specialized in each subject are responsible for training all sections, always with the support of the rest of the instructional staff.

The activities and exercises carried out are adjusted in intensity and duration to the characteristics of the group (each section), their ages, and their specific needs.
Elementary education on civic behavior in private life. Interactions with peers, instructors, other estate staff, and all members of the public during outings (marches, visits, etc.).

Different forms of protocol, demeanor, and etiquette in the Armed Forces and State Security Forces and Corps (FCS).
Basic self-respect habits such as personal hygiene, daily washing and showering, nail care, keeping long hair tied back during activities, etc.

They are taught to keep their bed and the area around the room they share with their peers clean and tidy, as well as how to wash and mend/sew their clothes.

The Instructors and Management will live and eat daily with all the cadets, who are supervised throughout the entire day.

The following text outlines in broad strokes the activities, rules, and educational approach of a civic-military and police training, survival, and self-reliance camp.

Below, we organize and structure all the training action blocks described to make them easier to read:

🎖️ Discipline, Values, and Barracks Life
- Physical preparation: Daily one-hour fitness sessions, tailored to each participant's capabilities, and completing the obstacle/toughening course (military assault course).
- Close-order drill: Learning formations, military and police salutes, presentations/reporting in, disciplined conduct, and marching/parading.
- Institutions and institutional respect: Ceremonies paying tribute to the flag, the fallen, and the constitutional symbols of our country.
- Duties and shifts: Mandatory completion of one day of "barracks duty" (guard/watch and cleaning of facilities) to foster self-reliance and work capacity.
- Cohesion and camaraderie/veteran spirit: Camp games, section competitions, and talks with Commanders, Officers, and veterans who will share their real-life experiences.
- Evaluation: On the first night, a group session will be held to share each cadet's expectations for the camp. On the last night, each section will hold an evaluation with its officers regarding everything experienced at the camp—covering strengths and weaknesses—as well as each cadet's personal assessment of the experience.
- Closing ceremony: On the final day, a closing ceremony featuring a brief parade exhibition and tribute to the Flag and the fallen, accompanied by the parents.

🛡️ Tactics, Defense, and Weapons (Airsoft and/or Paintball)
- Marksmanship / shooting instruction: Practical training in the military and police use of an assault rifle and basic concepts of precision marksmanship.

Above all, strict compliance with safety rules, methods, and protocols. All replicas/markers will be airsoft or paintball, and full protective gear will be required.
- Basic self-defense: Taught by certified Police and/or Military Self-Defense Instructors. Given the time available, these will be very basic self-defense techniques. Ultimately, the practical and proportionate use of force in cases of self-defense and strict necessity.
- Legal framework for defense: Training on prohibited and permitted weapons, as well as regulations governing their possession and use.
- Combat simulations: Military and police patrols within the estate/grounds. Airsoft and Paintball combat tactics and techniques (attacks, defenses, assaults, ambushes, withdrawals/retreats, breaking contact, etc.). Checkpoints/searches, pat-downs, police handcuffing, police baton, etc.
- Air rifle shooting: Basic instruction on current regulations for these weapons. Target practice with air rifles—always as a precaution even when not legally required—wearing protective eyewear and following all safety rules.

🌲 Survival, Adventure, Orienteering, and Sports

- Field exercises: Survival activities, orienteering techniques, and toughening military marches. Includes spending at least one night sleeping outdoors in the field, using the terrain of the surrounding natural park.
- Heights activities: Climbing (climbing wall), zip line, and rappelling practiced on the estate itself, under the supervision of a certified climbing instructor (subject to availability of facilities on the estate).
- Aquatic activities: Various practical exercises to learn how to swim, where applicable, or to improve buoyancy and autonomy in the water.
- Aquatic survival: Exercises in the camp pool focused on buoyancy and endurance (learning how to stay afloat and survive in the water). The pool will be permanently monitored by a certified lifeguard (subject to availability of a pool on the estate).

- Underwater activities: Basic concepts of scuba/diving—first and foremost safety rules, underwater communication and risks, pressures, necessary equipment, and a brief initial introduction to scuba gear in the pool.

🚑 Health and First Aid
- Basic first aid: Very basic, elementary maneuvers, recovery positions, CPR, Heimlich maneuvers, and properly providing data and information to medical emergency services.
- Combat medicine: Practical first aid classes and rescue techniques specifically focused on major conflict/combat situations.

Personal and Career Guidance Training Actions
· Joining the Armed Forces (FFAA): Requirements to join the Spanish military through its different entry pathways.
· Joining the State Security Forces and Corps (FCS): The various ways to enter the Civil Guard, National Police, Local Police forces, as well as Autonomous Community Police forces.
· Guidance on secondary, vocational, and university studies: Basic information and guidance on current educational pathways such as Bachillerato (upper secondary/high school), Vocational Training (FP), and University (degrees, etc.).

VALUES

Mutual aid is instilled in them: older cadets, in particular, are encouraged to help younger ones, forming a cohesive group with mutual support among all members.

- Everyone will need help from a peer at some point, and teammates must stand by each other, supporting one another.

- Everyone must contribute to the overall success of the group (the section). All sections must pull together for the success of the Camp as a whole. Individual effort is very important, but far less is achieved alone than with the strength of the group and team. - Respect for oneself, as well as for each and every peer and person with whom they live, regardless of age, sex, skin color, religion, physical or sensory disabilities, etc.

Note: Subject to schedule and availability, as well as official authorizations, an attempt will be made to arrange a visit to Armed Forces (FFAA) or State Security Forces and Corps (FCS) facilities.

DAILY ACTIVITY SCHEDULE

A 24-hour daily schedule is designed to balance high physical and military demands with necessary recovery times, meals, and camp maintenance. The plan is divided into 4 rotating practical blocks (4 Sections: Armed Forces [FFAA], Civil Guard [GC], National Police [PN], and Local Police [PPLL]) to ensure through rotation that all sections practice the full set of disciplines throughout the camp.

Daily Schedule Structure (an illustrative example)

07:20 h: Reveille (Wake-up)

08:00 h: Flag Raising

08:10 h: Breakfast

09:00 h: Start of activities

09:00 to 10:00 h: Close-Order Drill

10:00 to 11:00 h: Physical preparation

11:00 to 11:30 h: Mid-morning snack

11:30 to 12:30 h: Obstacle circuits and toughening course
12:30 to 13:30 h: Aquatic activities

13:30 to 14:00 h: Personal hygiene

14:00 to 14:45 h: Lunch

14:45 to 16:00 h: Room cleaning and laundry

16:00 to 17:00 h: Sewing/camouflage face-painting workshop, and training sessions on joining the Armed Forces (FFAA), State Security Forces and Corps (FCS), etc.

17:00 to 18:00 h: Airsoft or paintball games with various military and police strategies

18:00 to 18:30 h: Afternoon snack

18:30 to 19:30 h: Patrol strategy and leadership games

19:30 to 20:30 h: Technical workshops (first aid, topography, knot-tying, etc.)

20:30 to 20:55 h: Personal hygiene

21:00 h: Lowering of the Flag and evening prayer/reflection
21:15 to 22:00 h: Dinner

22:00 to 23:00 h: Personal hygiene with mandatory shower, etc. - Two nights a week at this time, a 15-minute phone call home (22:00 to 22:15 h).

23:00 h: Lights out (strict silence and rest until the following day).

One night a week, a night march may be held, sleeping outside the cabins in sleeping bags through bivouacking and night survival, including celestial/star navigation, etc.

One day a week, a daytime march will be held to scenic spots in the camp's surroundings, adjusting the distance and difficulty according to the cadets' ages and endurance.

Note: Activities are rotated and combined across sections to optimize facilities based on capacity (pool, workshop spaces, classrooms, etc.).

Note 1: Activities and schedules may be subject to change for various reasons, such as inclement weather (rain, wind, etc.), visits, outings, marches, or adapting activities to be carried out simultaneously by several sections, etc.

GEAR AND DOCUMENTS THE CADET MUST BRING

Document Requirements (Mandatory):

- Medical/Health Form: Health status declaration covering illnesses, allergies, food intolerances, medications (dosage and administration schedules), if applicable, etc. Including authorization to take the youth to the hospital if necessary and, in specific cases, to administer an antipyretic/fever reducer (such as Dalsy/ibuprofen, Apiretal/paracetamol, etc.).

- Parental Authorization: Serving as a service provision contract, signed by one of the parents or legal guardians.

- Image Data Protection and Processing Document: "Authorization" will be collected to capture images of the cadets and upload them to the website for dissemination, allowing parents and cadets to view and download them.

- Photocopy of the Social Security health card (or equivalent public/private health insurance card).

- Photocopy of National ID (DNI) or Passport (mandatory for those over 14 years old; optional for those under that age).

- On the day of arrival at the camp, the documentation described above must be handed over in paper form, signed by both or at least one of the parents or legal guardians if the cadet is a minor. Do not send this documentation before the camp check-in day; it must be delivered in person.

CLOTHING AND EQUIPMENT REQUIREMENTS

Footwear and Clothing:

- Two pairs of athletic shorts (preferably dark colors or, better yet, black). To maintain some uniformity during physical training, compression shorts/tights and leggings are NOT permitted on their own; they may only be worn underneath the corresponding athletic shorts to prevent chafing, if needed.

- A couple of T-shirts and athletic shoes/sneakers of any color, chosen by the cadet. - Underwear and socks: at least 5–6 changes (according to personal preference); where necessary, cadets will wash them at the camp.

- Two pairs of summer pajamas (for alternating).

- One sweatshirt or sweater/jumper, for possible inclement weather, to be worn as protection against the cold underneath the field jacket.

- High-top military or hiking boots: the foot and ankle joint must be firmly supported—meaning the boot must cover the ankle properly—in order to prevent injuries.

VERY IMPORTANT NOTE: Boots should NOT be brand new when arriving at the camp; they should already be somewhat "broken in" and molded to the foot to prevent chafing, blisters, and sores. Be careful with very old, cracked, or worn-out boots—it is best not to bring those.

Please keep in mind that this camp is demanding; cadets spend many hours working on their feet in boots, making proper footwear essential. Due to the sensitivity of feet and each individual's specific needs, boots are not provided by the camp. Pool Clothing and Gear:

- Swimsuit, towel, swimming goggles, and shower flip-flops/sandals. Girls must bring a one-piece swimsuit; bikinis are not allowed. Thong-style or overly brief ("tanga") swimwear is not permitted for any cadet.

Note: Do NOT pack excessive clothing; it will not be useful, will make it harder for cadets to find what they actually need to wear, and increases the chances of items getting lost. Mobile phone (100% charged) with its battery charger, in order to call home on two occasions during the camp.

The rest of the time it will be kept stored away due to digital detox, which is one of the camp rules. Only in exceptional, justified cases where a cadet does not have a mobile phone will an instructor's phone be provided to call their family (we cannot lend it to everyone).

Miscellaneous Tools and Necessary Supplies:

- Bar of laundry soap for washing clothes.

- Needle and light brown or white thread for sewing (they will be taught how to sew).

- Personal Hygiene:

- Toiletry bag with shower gel (minimum 250 ml / quarter of a liter).

- One hand towel and one bath/shower towel.

- Toothbrush and toothpaste.

- Soap, deodorant, and cologne.

- Shaving supplies, if applicable (shaving foam, razor, etc.).
- Small nail scissors (nail clippers are also acceptable).

- Marching and Camping Gear:

- Small backpack (approx. 30-liter capacity), preferably in dark colors, green, or camouflage (color is not mandatory), similar to those used for school.

- Insulating sleeping pad/mat for sleeping on the ground.

- Thick winter sleeping bag, as it gets cold at night, especially when sleeping under the stars.

- Rainwear (waterproof jacket or poncho) in case it rains on any day.

- Flashlight/torch and spare batteries; if possible, a headlamp is preferable to handheld flashlights.

- Canteen/water bottle with a clip/carabiner (minimum capacity of one liter).

- Camouflage face paint (available at large stationery stores, online, or at airsoft/paintball shops).

- Small notebook (A5 / half-letter size) with a pen.

- Airsoft Gear:

Option A: Those who own their own airsoft replicas may bring them along with their BB magazines, batteries and charger, BBs, as well as their facial protection and goggles (mandatory for safety). Under current regulations, the owner is responsible for the condition of the replica. Once handed in at the camp, it will only be issued to them for airsoft exercises and activities under the supervision of Instructors/Monitors.

Option B: Those who do not own replicas may rent them at the camp for 35 euros for the entire week. This rental includes the use of the weapon (airsoft rifle) with one magazine and all the ammunition (plastic BBs) needed for the exercises, as well as full-face protection—either goggles and mouth protection or a full-face mask, depending on the cadet's build/anatomy, sizes, and/or availability.

Note: Cadets may bring additional gear beyond what is requested, though given the duration and type of activities, no equipment other than what is listed is necessary. Any unnecessary, inconvenient, or inappropriate items will be confiscated/stored and returned at the end of the cadet's stay at the camp.

CAMP RULES

As in all camps, companies, and organizations, there are rules of coexistence and respect for oneself as well as for others.

These are the rules, conditions, and admission philosophy of a civic-military and police-themed youth camp. These are key points that parents or legal guardians must take into account before registering:

Nature and Objectives of the Camp

- Voluntary nature: It is intended for young people with an interest in the Armed Forces or Security Forces, or any kind of adventure and experience in an active, dynamic camp featuring engaging sports, recreational, military, police, and aquatic activities, etc. It is not a disciplinary center, nor a corrective or punitive measure ("to straighten anyone out").
- Recommended profile: It requires a minimum level of physical fitness and the habit of doing some sport; it is not suitable for excessively sedentary individuals or those with no physical activity at all.

- Neutrality: The organization and all its staff are ideologically neutral and do not tolerate any type of political or ideological demonstration, of whatever nature. This reflects the neutrality of our Armed Forces (FFAA) and State Security Forces and Corps (FCS) in carrying out their duties within our constitutional framework.

Rules of Coexistence and Discipline The following behaviors may result in expulsion from the camp without a refund of the fee, as Hostel costs are paid in advance.

- Zero tolerance for certain substances and items: In compliance with current regulations, smoking, consuming alcohol or other substances, and carrying bladed weapons (including multi-tools/pocketknives), lasers, or any blunt and/or dangerous objects are strictly prohibited.

- Serious offenses: Assaults against third parties or instructors, and serious disrespect toward instructors, peers, or estate staff.

- Minor or serious offense (depending on the case): Bullying or harassment of younger or more vulnerable cadets will not be tolerated.

- Liability for damages: Damage to facilities or property caused by improper or intentional misuse will be paid in full by the parents or legal guardians. In the case of damage to facilities due to reasonable minor carelessness or accidental damage, the Camp's insurance will cover the costs. To date, no such cases have occurred.

- Withdrawal: Voluntary withdrawal or an intervening injury does not entitle a refund of the fees paid either. These are very exceptional and rare cases.

Use of Technology and Communication (Digital Detox)

- Prohibited devices: The use of gaming consoles or music players is not permitted. Do not bring them, as they will be confiscated during the camp and returned on the final departure day. This prevents distractions for the cadets, as well as breakage, loss, and possible theft of devices. They do not need them; they should focus on enjoying the surroundings, nature, their peers, and the training received.
- Mobile phones: These will be kept in safekeeping by the organization and handed out only at specific times to make scheduled calls (twice a week, generally starting at 10:00 PM / 22:00 h, allowing a margin of 2 or 3 days at the beginning).

Health and Logistics

- Medications: Upon arrival, medications must be handed over to those in charge along with their corresponding medical prescription; participants may not keep them in their possession. Regular medication must be maintained (including regimens for hyperactivity or any other medical condition). They will be kept in safekeeping by the camp and administered in the doses, regimens, and times prescribed by the physician, according to the medical and medication report provided by the parents. It is mandatory to submit this document on paper on the first day of arrival.

- Money and valuables: The organization is not responsible for the loss of money, clothing, or personal items. Bringing a maximum of 20 euros is recommended for minor expenses, and leaving it inside the mobile phone case so that it does not get lost or go missing.

Note: If any dangerous object, weapon, tobacco, alcohol, or prohibited item is detected upon arrival, it will be confiscated as a precaution and returned at the end of the camp, depending on the case.

Note 1: No outside food of any kind is allowed. This avoids unfair comparisons, health issues or hazards caused by spoilage, or food being used as inappropriate bartering/trading items. Everyone will eat the same food during the camp. There is more than enough food (five meals a day) to carry out all the exercises and activities.

CAMP CHECK-IN AND CHECK-OUT RULES

The check-in and check-out times for cadets are strictly fixed—neither earlier nor later—as the facilities are rented to us specifically for those dates.

Arrivals –

General schedule: From 10:00 AM to 2:00 PM (10:00 to 14:00 h) on the starting day, to ensure all participants are registered, equipped, and ready for lunch and the start of activities (exceptions are accepted in the event of justified travel delays due to force majeure, breakdowns, accidents, etc.).

- Mandatory documentation to submit:

- Signed parental authorization and service agreement (or acceptance of terms and conditions for participants of legal age).

- Completed medical questionnaire.

- Data and image protection authorization form.

- Printed paper copy of the proof of payment.

- Photocopy of the participant's health insurance / Social Security card.

- Photocopy of National ID (DNI) or Passport for those over 14 years old (and for ages 10 to 14, if they have one).

Note: See full registration rules.

Departures

- Closing ceremony and schedule: On the last day of the camp, the end-of-camp ceremony and tribute to the Flag takes place. Gates for vehicles and family members open at 10:00 AM and close at 11:45 AM; the ceremony begins at 12:00 PM (noon) and lasts approximately one hour.

If needed, chairs will be provided for elderly guests or those with reduced mobility, and restroom facilities will be available for event attendees.

- Departure logistics: At the conclusion of the ceremony, cadets will reunite with their families in the parking lot for final departure.

- Meals and services: The organization does not include breakfast on the first day of arrival or lunch on the final day, so each family must arrange these meals on their own.

SUMMARY

Youth Camp for Training and Values

We offer a unique summer experience geared toward acquiring educational habits, perseverance, and civic values, inspired by the principles of military and police tradition within Spanish culture. Designed for young people aged 10 to 21, this environment combines the rigor of discipline with the fun of a summer camp.

[🌐 Reserve your spot voluntarily!]

Who is it for?

- Young people with a vocation: Boys and girls interested in the Armed Forces, the State Security Forces and Corps, or the world of Public or Private Security.

- Challenge seekers: Individuals who wish to learn exclusive theoretical and physical disciplines impossible to find at other camps.

- Open to everyone: Although a large percentage of our participants come from families connected to the Armed Forces (FFAA) and State Security Forces and Corps (FCS), the camp is open to any young person who wants to live this enriching experience, and everyone is welcome.

Our Approach: Training with Identity

We do not come here just to pass the time; this is not a conventional (purely recreational/festive) camp where "kids are dropped off" and time is wasted. We come to make the most of our time. It is a one-week educational project. Through structured dynamics, participants develop:

- Self-reliance and maturity: We foster individual autonomy and personal care.

- Esprit de corps / team spirit: They learn the value of individual effort in building a strong team, integrating into units where unbreakable camaraderie is forged—the strength that comes from the sum of all members in the final outcome.

- Physical adaptation: We adjust the intensity of the training sessions according to the ages and capabilities of each participant, ensuring everyone finishes with a high degree of satisfaction suited to their starting level.

Top-Level Mentors

Activities are supervised by active-duty professionals and personnel from the Armed Forces (FFAA) and State Security Forces and Corps (FCS). In addition to day-to-day instruction, they provide personalized career guidance on:

- Entry into the Officer, Non-Commissioned Officer (NCO), or Professional Soldier/Troop ranks of the Armed Forces (FAS).
- Entry into the Civil Guard, National Police, Local Police forces, Autonomous Community Police forces, etc.

- Civilian educational alternatives, university degrees, and vocational training programs.

The Value of Daily Structure

In contrast to apathy and inactivity (excessive idleness), we propose a daily framework based on punctuality, shared chores, and duty shifts. This organization equips adolescents with a lifelong mental framework that is enormously useful both for their future careers and their everyday lives.

⚠ Important Notice: This is neither a correctional facility nor a punitive center. Enrollment must be 100% voluntary. We are looking for enthusiastic young people with a positive attitude and a willingness to live and work together; we reserve the right of admission and expulsion in the event of any disruptive, violent, or similar behavior.

HUMAN RESOURCES

As explained in the introductory "Who We Are" section, all instructors assume the "role" of camp "officers." Without great professionals, it is impossible to run a camp that meets our quality objectives for both the young participants and their families.
